

Developing Moral Sensitivity

Table of Contents

Foreword:

“Three Kinds of Moral Sensitivity”

Owen Flanagan

Preface:

“To Those Who See”

Deborah S. Mower, Phyllis Vandenberg, and Wade L. Robison

Chapter 1:

Re-Introducing Moral Sensitivity

Phyllis Vandenberg, Deborah S. Mower, and Wade L. Robison

Part 1: Development Through Relationships

Part Introduction

Chapter 2:

The Neurobiology of Moral Sensitivity: Evolution, Epigenetics, and Early Experience

Darcia Narváez

Chapter 3:

Cultivating Mature Moral Sensitivity

Phyllis Vandenberg and John Uglietta

Chapter 4:

Picturing Moral Sensitivity: Insights from Murdoch and Cervone

Nancy E. Snow

Chapter 5:

Smart Technology and Moral Sensitivity

Clifton F. Guthrie

Part 2: Development Through Teaching

Part Introduction

Chapter 6:

Narrative Openings

Susan Verducci

Chapter 7:

Framing Moral Sensitivity as Perception

Minerva Ahumada

Chapter 8:
Moral Sensitivity and Service Learning: A Confucian Perspective
Alan A. Preti

Chapter 9:
Moral Sensitivity as Integrated Attunement
Mark H. Dixon and Patrick Croskery

Part 3: Development Through Institutions

Part Introduction

Chapter 10:
Resentment and Forgiveness in Higher Education
Elaine E. Englehardt, Michael S. Pritchard, and K. D. Taylor

Chapter 11:
Morally Sensitive Professionals
Sharon K. Anderson

Chapter 12:
Moral Sensitivity and Dehumanization in the Military
Erik Wingrove-Haugland

Part 4: Developing Empirical Models

Part Introduction

Chapter 13:
A Neo-Kohlbergian Tale of Two Sensitivities
Stephen J. Thoma

Chapter 14:
A Portfolio Approach to Integrated Moral Sensitivity
Molly M. Jameson, Hillary Fuhrman, and Deborah S. Mower

Chapter 15:
The Normativity of Moral Sensitivity
Deborah S. Mower and David K. McGraw